

Barricane

Designed by Magnus Long

morganfurniture.co.uk

Paying homage to the secluded cove of Barricane Beach in Devon, where sunsets are elegantly framed by rugged cliff sides, our first collaboration with designer Magnus Long brings sculptural design to our dining chair collections.

This partnership not only celebrated a coming together of complimentary creative directions and aesthetics, it also invited us to explore the flexibility and craftsmanship of our woodworking techniques.

With a construction that explores the technicality of woodwork and tradition of caning, Barricane combines craft and technical excellence, to create a piece that embraces comfort and ergonomics through beautiful and tactile, nature-inspired design.

The soft tactility of the timber contrasts with the textural cane weave back, a detail which not only brings lightness and a translucent quality to each chair but also provides a softer, delicate but still ergonomic support.

With its clean front elevation, elegant frame and translucent cane backrest, it is a piece that plays with strength and light, comfortable in serene settings or places of relaxed conviviality.

The denser weave of the backrest provides deeper support, while the upholstered seat has been ergonomically crafted with a waterfall detail to deliver comfort.

“I had been looking for a way to work with split cane for many years, due to its translucency, strength and the fact that it is wholly natural material so when I visited Morgan’s factory, the opportunity was immediate.”

A delicate dance of design, comfort and durability, perfect for both relaxed and more formal dining settings.

Magnus Long collaborated with us to manufacture a piece that explores our woodworking technicality, with a design that captures the lightness and organic feel of the North Devon coast, a pocket of nature close to his heart.
